Homework: AR 3066

- The assignment of formal exercises for completion is the prerogative of the teacher, but every encouragement shall be given to pupils (and parents) to set aside some regular time each evening for home study. 3. The nature and amounts of home study recommended are as follows:
 - Division I (Grade 1-3): The motivation which comes from parental interest in children's school work can be valuable to a child. Parents and teachers should encourage children to read from books suggested by the school. Pressures can bring about negative results. No formal assignments shall be made, but from 5 to 10 minutes of systematic study per night is recommended.
 - Division II (Grade 4) Formal assignments may be given at the discretion of the teacher, particularly for pupils who need special attention or help, but in general, assignments should be of the reading or study type. Parents should be made aware of the teacher's general requirements with respect to home study, and the Board's expectations as set forth in section 2 above, but no school requirement should exceed 20 minutes in length.

Questions:

- Are their plans for fieldtrips this year?
 - Will connect with teachers if they have enough volunteers to do so
 - Volunteers (1:5 ratio)
 - Teachers also need to consider the cost of the program for the field trip
